Chairs—Autumn—Woman's Work

IRON VOYAGE.
This is the longest day dreamer of day.
The day long ship puts out to sea.
A down the Hudson even now, The slow, full, golden, calm rests.

The river cleaves around her wide.
And vacation boats from the west
Bring scenes of the smiling waves
And land of olden days.

This is the woodland dreamland day.
For which thoughts take us planned.
And I—where, through new dimmed eyes
To gladden me the heart gladly.

Riverside, W. Va., their former among the daily papers. Miss Bell is yet in her teens, commenced the program with the "Prelude" from Bachmannoff, and by her wonderful interpretation, won an audience who minded and enjoyed her brother, followed with a number from Chopin, and alternated with his sister in giving compositions
